Largest Contributions & Expenditures

Question

Does the company report any contributions to or expenditures to political campaigns or organizations, lobbying, trade associations, tax-exempt entities, or other groups whose role is to influence political campaigns or public policy and legislation?

Rationale

Although companies legitimately represent themselves in legislative, political and public discourse, excessive contributions to political campaigns, lobbying expenditures and contributions to trade associations and other tax-exempt groups may damage companies' reputations and creates risks of corruption. In this question, we ask for the largest contributions or expenditures to organizations whose primary role is to create or influence public policy, and assesses the extent to which this information is provided to the public.

Key definitions

Largest contributions: In this context, a "contribution" is the aggregate amount given during the fiscal period to an individual candidate, organization, ballot measure, or "issue area" or "topic" requiring lobbying efforts. For example:

Sugar taxes: The total amount of lobbying expense for the fiscal period shall be reported as one line item. The expenses may have been related to several activities around the world: a ballot initiative in California, legislation being considered by the US federal government and legislation pending in the UK.

Drug pricing: The total amount of lobbying expense for the fiscal period shall be reported as one line item. The expenses may have been related to several state ballot initiatives in the US.

Data Requirements

Companies should report their largest "contributions" to political campaigns or organizations, lobbyists, trade associations and other tax-exempt group, related to individual candidates, organizations, ballot measure or referendum, or topic for which lobbying were contracted. This includes all contributions, donations and membership fees towards trade associations, industry associations and business associations. Companies do not need to report the monetary value of in-kind giving, employee volunteering or management overheads related to the activities mentioned above. If local legislation prevents you from making political or other contributions, please mark "Not applicable" and provide an explanation in the company comment box.

There are two distinct aspects to this question: the two top issues and the three largest single contributions/payments. There may therefore be some overlap, if the spending on the issues is done by the trade associations. If your largest contributions go to trade/business associations, our preference is that you are able to inquire with the trade association(s) as to the percentage of your contribution allocated to lobbying for specific issues. If the trade association cannot provide this level of detail, an estimate will suffice. In the worst case, for the first part of this question we ask you to report your direct lobbying expenditures only, even if the amounts are small.

Note: Please do not include contributions to charities whose main purpose is something other than supporting specific political parties or causes, e.g. they primarily provide healthcare to an at risk population or food and shelter to the poor.

Disclosure requirements for partially public question. Additional credit will be granted for relevant publicly available evidence covering at least three of the largest contributions and expenditures described. This should be publicly reported on the company's own website not via a third party website or on a transparency register.
