R&D Spending

Question

Please provide us with your R&D spending for the last four fiscal years in the table below.

Rationale

Innovation is one of the key drivers of companies' future success and ability to generate a competitive advantage. Innovation drives product, process and organization change and is therefore the key differentiation factor for companies. In reality, the measurement of innovation is often based on outdated economic indicators (R&D expenditures and number of patents), which do not capture the complexity and multidimensionality of the innovation management processes in companies. The questions have been developed to include state-of-the art innovation indicators, covering the whole development chain from innovation input (R&D spending), innovation management (processes in place, KPIs) to innovation output (success rates, return on investment). Additionally, the importance of environmental and social innovations is analyzed.

With this question, we assess the size and structure of companies' R&D spending (both internal and outsourced) as well as the number of employees working in R&D positions.
