Family Ownership

Question

Does the company report whether any individual founding members or family members, either personally or through other companies or organizations, hold more than 5% of the company's voting rights?

Rationale

As corporate governance systems aim to ensure that a company is managed in the interests of its shareholders, in this question we assess if one or several individuals of the founding family are ultimate owners and have more than 5% of the voting rights. Academic research (e.g. Eugster & Isakov, 2016 or Corstjens, Peyer & Van der Heyden, 2006) suggests that family ownership is positively correlated to future operating profit.

Key Definitions

Significant family ownership: At least one of the founding individuals/family members, personally or through other companies or organizations, must own more than 5% of the voting rights of your company. If no individual owns more than 5%, we do not consider it significant family ownership.

Founding family: The founding family can be one or several individuals or family members. They might have not necessarily set up the company independently.In case a family acquires an existing company and transforms it into a new company, this second family can be considered the 'founding family'(e.g. if a company has been acquired, re-named and re-branded).

Data requirements

We are looking for founding family ownership, in order to assess whether descendants of the founding families are current owners with significant voting rights.

Total % of voting rightsof founding family members, personally or through companies/organizationsto be reported:

- if one of the family members owns more than 5%, the respondent shall report the total of all family members' holdings. e.g. add the person(s) with individual ownership of over 5% of the voting rights plus those who individually own less than 5% of voting rights. Please report the total even if there is no pooling agreement in place.
- if the family owns more than 5% of the company through a holding company, the family must own at least 50% of the holding company that in turn holds shares of the company.
- if none of the family members individually own more than 5% of the company's voting rights, please mark "No, (founding) family members individually do not have more than 5% of the voting rights."
- If any of the founding members or their families still hold more than 5%, this should be reported.
- if the company was not founded by a family, please mark 'Not Applicable'
