Human Rights Commitment

Question

Does the company have a group-wide commitment to respect human rights and is it available publicly?

Rationale

The purpose of this question is to identify companies that have an active commitment to respect human rights in their business relationships in line with the UN Guiding Principles or another internationally accepted standard. The policy needs to be company-specific with a company-wide commitment and not just for a single site, business unit, or project.

Following the most recent international developments in the field of corporate non-financial disclosures, we want to know not only the coverage of business human rights policies but what are the specific human rights issues considered within them and whether they highlight particular human rights for attention, whether the commitment is limited to a particular set of rights, encompasses all internationally recognized human rights, or encompasses all internationally recognized human rights but highlights some as needing particular attention according to the context in which the company operates.

This input will reinforce the understanding of a company's approach to human rights, building increased trust with different stakeholders and demonstrating international good business practices.

Key Definitions

Respecting human rights:

- Avoid causing or contributing to adverse human rights impacts through their own activities, and address such impacts when they occur
- Seek to prevent or mitigate adverse human rights impacts that are directly linked to their operations, products, or services by their business relationships, even if they have not contributed to those impacts.

Suppliers: Include brokers, consultants, contractors, distributors, franchisees or licensees, home workers, independent contractors, manufacturers, primary producers, sub-contractors, and wholesalers.

Partners: Include agents, lobbyists and other intermediaries, joint venture and consortia partners, governments, customers, clients, and local communities.

Human trafficking: The recruitment, transport, transfer, harboring, or receipt of a person by such means as threat or use of force or other forms of coercion, abduction, fraud, or deception for the purpose of exploitation.

Forced labor: Forced labor can be understood as work that is performed involuntarily and under the menace of any penalty. It refers to situations in which persons are coerced to work through the use of violence or intimidation, or by more subtle means such as manipulated debt, retention of identity papers, or threats of denunciation to immigration authorities.

Child labor: Work that deprives children of their childhood, their potential and their dignity, and that is harmful to physical and mental development. It refers to work that:

- is mentally, physically, socially, or morally dangerous and harmful to children; and/or
- interferes with their schooling by depriving them of the opportunity to attend school; obliging them to leave school prematurely; or requiring them to attempt to combine school attendance with excessively long and heavy work.

Freedom of association: The right of workers and employers to form and join organizations of their own choosing

Right to collective bargaining: The right of workers to bargain freely with employers is an essential element in freedom of association. Collective bargaining is a voluntary process through which employers and workers discuss and negotiate their relations, in particular terms and conditions of work.

Equal remuneration: This means the principle of equal remuneration for men and women workers for work of equal value.

Right to non-discrimination: The principle of non-discrimination seeks "to guarantee that human rights are exercised without discrimination of any kind based on race, color, sex, language, religion, political or other opinion, national or social origin, property, birth or other status such as disability, age, marital and family status, sexual orientation and gender identity, health status, place of residence, economic and social situation.

Data Requirements

This question requires supporting evidence from the public domain. The information provided has to be included in your public reporting (e.g. annual report, sustainability report, integrated report, company publications) or corporate website.

Only referring to or being a signatory to external entities such as the UN Global Compact (UNGC) or International Labour Organization (ILO) is not sufficient for the statement of commitment. A letter from your company to the UNGC is also not sufficient. We require a company-specific statement of commitment.

Also, Modern Slavery Statements won't be accepted as human rights commitments.
