Key Definitions

Living wage: Minimum pay received for the basic number of working hours and required to ensure coverage of workers and their families' basic needs. The living wage consists of the base salary and excludes bonuses and overtime (Fair Wage Network).

For the purpose of this question, the living wage methodology should include at least the following three basic expenses (all): food, housing and clothing. Additional expenses include but are not limited to health, transportation, personal care items, childcare, and education.

Minimum wage: The minimum amount of remuneration that an employer is required to pay wage earners for the work performed during a given period, which cannot be reduced by a collective agreement or an individual contract (International Labour Organization)

This definition refers to the binding nature of minimum wages, regardless of the method of fixing them. Minimum wages can be set by statute, a decision of a competent authority, a wage board, a wage council, or by industrial or labour courts or tribunals. Minimum wages can also be set by giving the force of law to provisions of collective agreements. Following this definition, minimum wages exist in more than 90 per cent of the International Labour Organisation's (ILO) member States. (International Labour Organization)

Data Requirements

Disclosure requirements for partially public question: Additional credit will be granted for relevant publicly available evidence covering the following aspect of this question: public disclosure of the living wage methodology used by the company. If your company uses a third-party living wage methodology, please provide evidence that the name of the methodology is available in your public reporting or on your corporate website.

Please note that in this question, we are specifically assessing whether companies use a living wage methodology to assess whether they pay a living wage, not the minimum wage. Evidence of adhering to the minimum wage will be not accepted in this question.

Please mark the groups that are not covered in your questionnaire as "Not applicable" in the table. For example, if you have the Living Wage Methodology and Living Wage Supplier questions only, please mark the coverage of Employees, Contractors and Franchisees as "Not applicable" in the relevant dropdowns. Please only mark the coverage for the groups of questions included in your questionnaire.

Please note: If you have less than 100 employees or no employees in your organization, then please mark the question as "Not applicable".
