Board Average Tenure

Question

Does the company report the average tenure of board members on its board of directors/supervisory board in years?

Rationale

Corporate boards are tasked with monitoring companies' management teams on behalf of those companies' shareholders and other stakeholders. Boards are the direct representatives of these stakeholders and form one of the most important components of corporate governance. It is therefore important that the board members selected have the right experience and skills, are sufficiently independent, and act in the best interests of all stakeholders. Board tenure reflects retention and continuity on the one hand, and refreshment of skills and perspectives as well as independence on the other.

Research strongly supports the assertion that optimal board tenure is in the 7 to 12-year range, and that firm value declines as average tenure deviates therefrom.

Data Requirements

Provide information on board members that are currently (at the time the assessment is performed) on the board. This means that if the board member has resigned from the board (for example, in March 2020) and the assessment is performed in May 2020, do not include them as part of the board.

Include board members who have announced her/his resignation but have not yet resigned (at the time the assessment is performed) as part of the board. She/he should not be included if she/he has already resigned at the time the assessment is performed.

A board nominee should not be included as a board member unless she/he has already been elected at the time of the assessment. (A nominee should only be included if she/he sits for re-election, not if she/he's a nominee for a first mandate).

In this question, we expect disclosure on average board tenure and/or individual tenure of each member of the board of directors.

Tenure: The number of years a member has served on the board of directors. Please consider the calendar year as the base year. For example, if a director was appointed in March 2017, their tenure would be counted as 2025-2017 = 8 years.

Mergers and acquisitions: If the company is a spinoff or merger, tenure from the previous company is counted.

If a company is less than 10 years old, the company should mark "The question is not applicable to the company".

For one-tier boards: All board members should be reported, including executive, independent and non-executive members.

For two-tier boards: Employee representatives and senior executives should not be included in the calculation for two-tier boards, as they are not considered in the calculation of the total size of the supervisory board. The management board members should not be included when calculating the average tenure.

Disclosure Requirements

Listed and/or publicly owned companies are required to provide links to public reports or corporate websites.

Non-listed companies are required to provide the following evidence, depending on the type of company:

- Family-owned companies and privately owned companies are required to provide public reports, corporate websites, or internal documents.
- Cooperatives are required to provide public reports, corporate websites, or internal documents.
- State-owned companies are required to report on their corporate governance in the public domain as their key stakeholder is the general public.

Please note: Answers in the form of 'Confidential additional comments' for any type of non-listed company will not be accepted.
