CEO Compensation - Success Metrics

Question

Does the company have predefined corporate performance indicators relevant for the CEO's variable compensation?

Rationale

The use of financial metrics to evaluate management performance has become ubiquitous as the benefits of aligning incentives with company performance have been established. Our research shows that the use of revenue, operating profit, and earnings per share are common practices. Differentiation is now only observed in a few aspects, including the use of return metrics (capital efficiency) and relative metrics, which compare the company to its peers. In this question, we aim to find out which corporate performance indicators are used to determine CEO variable compensation. Please include only metrics applied to the CEO.

Additional Question Guidance & Information Display

Key Definitions

Success metrics for variable CEO compensation: As part of this question, any corporate performance indicator that is used to determine the CEO's variable compensation should be indicated. Please only include metrics that apply to the CEO's compensation, not metrics that are selectively used for other senior executives or specialist senior managers at a lower level (such as CFO or COO).

Financial metrics: Financial returns refer to capital efficiency (capital is the source of funds, debt, equity, etc.). Therefore, financial returns always use an income statement profit metric (e.g., Earnings Before Interest and Tax, income, operating income) divided by a balance sheet metric (e.g., assets (entire balance sheet), equity, total capital (debt plus equity), invested capital. We do not accept revenue growth, net profit after taxes, earnings per share, and dividends per share. Acceptable financial metrics include return on assets, return on equity, return on invested capital.

Data Requirements

Please only include metrics that apply to the CEO's compensation, not metrics that are selectively used for other senior executives or specialist senior managers at a lower level (such as CFO or COO).

Debt / EBITDA and Economic Value Added (EVA) are some examples of acceptable financial return metrics.
