ESG Governance Oversight

Question

Does the company have governance mechanisms in place to oversee ESG/sustainability issues?

Rationale

The purpose of this question is to assess how companies oversee ESG and sustainability matters at the board of directors and executive committee levels. As stakeholders increasingly prioritize sustainability practices, integrating ESG factors into corporate strategy becomes necessary for long term value creation. This scrutiny ensures that businesses effectively manage risks, seize opportunities, and uphold their commitments to responsible business conduct.

Key Definitions

Board-level committee with oversight: Assigned committee, formed of board members only and with at least one independent member, with responsibility for overseeing ESG and sustainability issues.

Executive-level committee with oversight: Assigned committee, formed of individuals within one reporting level from the CEO, with responsibility for overseeing ESG and sustainability issues.

Designated role: A designated individual with responsibility for ESG matters.

Data Requirements

To answer this question, we expect a focus on the organizations general ESG and sustainability management and not topic-specific, such as Climate or Occupational Health and Safety oversight.

Board oversight: Board oversight refers to a board-level committee responsible for overseeing ESG and Sustainability issues. Evidence that the committee oversees Sustainability and ESG issues should be available in the relevant section in TCFD, CDP or other reports. In the case that the company has a two-tier board structure, we expect the Supervisory board to hold ESG oversight responsibility.

If the board committee is different from a ESG and sustainability-specific committee, the responsibility needs to be clearly described within public reporting.

In order to accept the committee as a board-level committee, all members must be part of the board. If the committee is made up of both board members and management, please record this committee in the "Management Responsibility" section of the question.

For two-tier boards, the board-level committee must be formed of members of the supervisory board.

Management responsibility: Management responsibility refers to the highest level of management with dedicated responsibility for managing ESG and Sustainability issues.

For two-tier boards, management responsibility can be at the management board level.

Disclosure Requirements

The document(s) you have attached will be used to verify your response. Any response that cannot be verified in the attached document(s) will not be accepted.

Listed and/or publicly owned companies are required to provide links to public reports or corporate websites.

Non-listed companies are required to provide the following evidence, depending on the type of company:

- Family-owned companies and privately owned companies are required to provide public reports, corporate websites, or internal documents.
- Cooperatives are required to provide public reports, corporate websites, or internal documents.
- State-owned companies are required to report on their corporate governance in the public domain as their key stakeholder is the general public.

Please note: Answers in the form of "Confidential additional comments" for any type of non-listed company will not be accepted.
