To commemorate its 10th anniversary, Mexico was chosen as the main host country for this year's event. The city inspired the design of this year's official race shirt, which celebrates the country's rich cultural heritage and reinforces the event's positive impact.

It has become a global movement that, under the motto "The Good We Share," invites people of all ages to take steps for a meaningful cause, promoting collective well-being through physical activity and community support.

In the United States, runners had the opportunity to participate in a 5K or 10K race virtually or in person at the Rose Bowl in Pasadena, CA. The winners of the 10K race were:

Women category: Elizabeth Ben-Ishai, 00:38:17
Men category: Luis Gutierrez, 00:32:59
