Contributions & Other Spending

Question

Does the company track its annual total monetary contributions to and spending for political campaigns, political organizations, lobbyists or lobbying organizations, trade associations, and other tax-exempt groups?

Rationale

Although companies legitimately represent themselves in legislative, political and public discourse, excessive contributions to political campaigns, lobbying expenditures and contributions to trade associations and other tax-exempt groups may damage companies' reputations and creates risks of corruption. With this question, we assess the total amount of money companies are allocating to organizations whose primary role is to create or influence public policy and the extent to which these amounts are disclosed to the public.

Data Requirements

The company shall report its total monetary contributions to political campaigns or organizations, lobbyists, trade associations and other tax-exempt groups whose role is to influence political campaigns or legislation. This includes all direct and indirect spending, contributions or payments to:

1. Political campaigns, ballots measures or referendums.
2. Political organizations, trade associations or tax-exempt groups whose role is to influence political campaigns or legislative activities, including chambers of commerce, trade boards, and the like. This includes membership fees towards trade associations, industry associations and business associations.
3. Registered lobbyists and lobbying groups.
4. Companies do not need to report the monetary value of in-kind giving, employee volunteering or management overheads related to the activities described above.
5. Note: PAC contributions by employees should not be included.

Source: SASB and GRI.

Disclosure requirements for partially public question: Additional credit will be granted for relevant publicly available evidence covering at least one figure in the last reported year. If no contributions were made for a specific item or category (e.g. zero political contributions in the last fiscal year), companies should publicly report this information. This should be publicly reported on the company's own website not via a third party website or on a transparency register.

Coverage should be reported as a % of total operations, revenues, etc. as provided in the denominator question - indicating whether the provided data represents the entire organization or only parts of it. The percentage provided in the coverage field should not represent spending as a % of total spending or total revenues.
