Type of Philanthropic Activities

Question

For the last fiscal year, please indicate on a consolidated group-wide basis what percentage of your corporate citizenship and/or philanthropic contributions falls within each category. Please refer to the information button for definitions and explanations of the categories.

Rationale

In order to be a catalyst for development, corporate philanthropy programs need to be well managed. Creating value for beneficiaries and shareholders alike requires companies to have a clear direction and focus guiding their philanthropic activities. This question aims to assess the structure and diversity of companies' corporate citizenship programs.

Having a diversified approach to corporate citizenship ensures that a company makes full use of the different types of capital it has at its disposal: financial, human, etc.

Key Definitions

The categories in this question follow the London Benchmarking Group (LBG) model. The sum of the figures for each category should add up to 100%. If your company uses different categories, you should make estimates to fill in the three categories in the table based on the detailed definitions below.

Charitable donations: Refers to one-off or occasional support to good causes in response to the needs and appeals of charitable and community organizations, requests from employees, or in reaction to external events such as emergency relief situations. These are often thought of as traditional philanthropy or grant-making. Examples of charitable donations include:

- Donations of cash, products, services or equipment to local, national and international charitable appeals
- Social 'sponsorship' of causes or arts / cultural events with name recognition for the company that is not part of a marketing strategy
- Grants from corporate foundations that are not linked to a core community strategy
- Company-matching of employee donations and fundraising
- Costs of facilitating donations by customers and suppliers
- Costs of employees volunteering during working hours, if not part of a core community strategy
- Gifts of products from inventory at cost
- Occasional use of company premises and other resources

Community investments: Refers to long-term strategic involvement in, and partnership with, community organizations to address a limited range of social issues chosen by the company to protect its long-term corporate interests and enhance its reputation. Examples of community investments include:

- Membership of, and subscriptions to, charitable organizations that help to deliver the community engagement strategy
- Grants, donations (cash, product, services or equipment) to community partner organizations
- Secondments to a partner community organization and other staff involvement, such as technical and managerial assistance to a partner organization
- Time spent supporting in-house training and placements, such as work experience
- Use of company premises and other resources for partner organizations
- Costs of supporting and promoting formal employee volunteering programs

Commercial initiatives: Refers to business-related activities in the community, usually undertaken by commercial departments to directly support the success of the company, promoting its corporate and brand identities and other policies, in partnership with charities and community-based organizations. Only the contribution to charity or community organizations should be considered, not the total cost of the marketing campaign or similar. Examples of commercial initiatives include:

- The sponsorship of events, publications and activities that promote corporate brands or corporate identity
- Cause-related marketing and activities to promote sales (e.g. making donations for each item bought)
- Support for universities, and research and other charitable institutions related to the company's business or aiming to improve the image of the brand or perception of the company
- Exceptional one-off gifts of property and other assets
